DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action is in response to the amendment filed on June 25, 2007.
Examiner acknowledges claims 1-35 are pending in this application with claims 15-30, 33 and 35 having been withdrawn from consideration, claims 1-14, 31, and 32 having been currently amended.

Election/Restrictions

2. This application contains claims 15-30, 33 and 35 drawn to an invention nonelected without traverse in Paper No. 20060929. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.

Art Unit: 3771

2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-14, 31, 32 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Casper et al. (6,644,309) in view of Hochrainer et al. (2003/0070679).

As to Claims 1-4, 32, and 34, Casper discloses a device for the delivery of a drug in an aerosol of droplets by delivery of the drug under pressure, comprising: a container cartridge (72) having a non-pressurized cylinder, at rest, containing a single dose of the drug, a piston (30) communicating with one end of the cylinder (via valve stem 58), and an outlet end (76) opposite the inlet end having a dispensing facility and means for feeding the drug thereto; an elastic element (34) for the storage of a predetermined quantity of energy; a mobile element (the movement of the piston 30 within the housing 36) to which the predetermined quantity of energy can be fed and which is coupled to the piston such that the energy can move the piston and expose the single dose of the drug to a predetermined increase in pressure within the cylinder. (Figure 1, Column 6, Lines 30-33). Yet, Casper does not disclose a means for the respective introduction and removal of the container cartridge into and from an accommodation chamber within the device. However, at the time the invention was made the means for respective introduction and removal of the container cartridge was known. Specifically, Hochrainer teaches the use of a hinged inhaler to enable provide a means for the inhaler to be covered with a cap mechanism and to enable the inhaler cartridge to be replaced for multiple uses. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of Casper to include a hinged means for introduction and removal of the cartridge, as taught by Hochrainer to enable the inhaler device to be reused.

As to Claim 5, Casper discloses a removable grip (44).

As to Claims 6-9, Casper discloses the upper housing (64) the middle housing (60) and the lower housing (36) yet does not disclose the portions to be rotably removed from each other. However, Hochrainer teaches a lower housing section (12), which defines the bottom side of the device, a middle housing section (3), which is rotatable against the lower housing section, and an upper housing section (1) which is vertically swivellable and rotatable relative to the middle section, wherein the container cartridge can be introduced into a bore passing through the upper housing (1) for enabling the device to be constructed and deconstructed for reuse.

As to Claims 10-14, Casper discloses a locking mechanism between the upper housing (64) the middle housing (60) and the lower housing (36) wherein the locking mechanism between the upper and middle are elements 62 and 66 and the locking mechanism between the middle and lower housing are the combination of elements 38 and 32.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14, 31, 32 and 34 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
